STATE OF WASHINGTON,
DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL AND HEALTH SERVICES, et al.,

Defendants.

CASE NO. C09-5743BHS

ORDER GRANTING
DEFENDANTS' MOTION
FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

This matter comes before the Court on Defendants' motion for summary judgment (Dkt. 23). The Court has considered the pleadings filed in support of and in opposition to the motion and the remainder of the file and hereby grants the motion for the reasons stated herein.

I. PROCEDURAL HISTORY

On November 27, 2009, Plaintiff Earnest Ford ("Ford") filed the original complaint in this action alleging claims against Defendants relating to his employment at Western State Hospital ("WSH"). On February 24, 2010, Ford filed his first amended complaint (Dkt. 4) and on April 20, 2010, he filed his second amended complaint (Dkt. 12). On December 22, 2010, Defendants filed their motion for summary judgment. Dkt. 23. On January 10, 2011, Ford responded (Dkt. 35) and on January 14, 2011, Defendants replied (Dkt. 42).

II. RELEVANT FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The following facts are undisputed unless otherwise indicated:

A. Ford's Temporary Positions at WSH

On June 16, 2006, Ford was appointed to a temporary position as an Institutional Counselor 3 ("IC3") at WSH. Dkt. 32 at 2-3. Prior to June 16, 2006, Ford was working as a Psychiatric Security Attendant ("PSA") in an evening shift position. See Dkt. 36 at 9. On March 28, 2007, Dr. Andrew Phillips ("Dr. Phillips"), CEO of WSH, approved Art Kelly's (Ford's program manager) request for Ford's IC3 position to be made permanent. Dkt. 25 at 2-3. Following this approval, Dr. Phillips pulled back several of these conversion approvals, including Ford's, to insure that such conversions had been properly approved as DSHS was implementing new policies regarding these conversions. Id. at 2-3. In reviewing Kelly's request regarding Ford, Dr. Phillips noted that such request had not been approved by WSH's CFO or Human Resources Director as was required under WSH policy. Id. In early April 2007, Dr. Phillips informed Ford that he was not being converted to a permanent position. Id. at 3-4.

Following an evaluation meeting held on May 31, 2007, between Ford and WSH personnel, Dr. Jeni Gregory, Ford's supervisor at the time, informed Ford in a letter from WSH that it was terminating his temporary IC3 position. Dkt. 32 at 2-3. On June 4, 2007, Ford was reappointed to a temporary IC2 position. Id. at 3. Later in June 2007, Ford's temporary IC2 position was ended, as well as his July 2007 temporary appointment. Dkt. 30 at 2. According to WSH, Ford was terminated from his temporary IC2 position due to concerns it had with Ford working with patients after Kelli Saatchi ("Saatchi"), a WSH Nurse Manager, received a phone call on June 19, 2007, informing her that Ford had been arrested for domestic violence. Dkt. 30 at 2; see Dkt. 24 at 29-40. Because the Court concludes that Ford is barred by the applicable statute of limitations from bringing a lawsuit seeking remedies for actions occurring before July 27, 2007 (supra section III.D), no further detail of the facts alleged prior to that date is necessary.

B. Long Term Disability Claim

After Ford was no longer working in his IC2 position, he filed a claim with Standard Insurance Company (“Standard”) to receive long term disability benefits. See Dkt. 39-1 at 3. In a letter dated January 31, 2008, Art Stratton (“Stratton”), Human Resources Manager for WSH, received a request from Joanna Rork (“Rork”), a senior disability benefits analyst with Standard, to provide her with information concerning Ford’s employment with WSH. Dkt. 26 at 6. On March 7, 2008, WSH received a second request from Standard for the information regarding Ford’s employment with WSH and responded in a letter to Rork dated March 17, 2008, that it would begin gathering the requested information. See id. at 7. Certain records were provided to Standard in April 2008 and in a letter dated April 18, 2008, WSH notified Standard that additional documents were forthcoming. Id. at 9. On April 28, 2008, WSH provided the remaining documents to Standard. Id. at 10. In a letter dated June 30, 2008, Standard informed Ford that his claim for long term disability benefits was approved for the period beginning June 27, 2007, through December 2, 2007. Dkt. 24 at 52-54.

C. Unemployment Benefits Claim

In April 2008 Ford applied for unemployment benefits through the State of Washington Employment Security Department (“ESD”). Dkt. 36 at 9. On April 14, 2008, Stratton received a Claimant’s Separation Statement from ESD regarding Ford’s claim. Dkt. 26 at 3, 11-12. According to Stratton, at the time he filled out the ESD separation statement, it was his understanding that Ford was still employed by WSH and had objected to returning to his permanent position as a PSA. Id. at 3. Stratton later learned that Stephanie Barron (“Barron”), the WSH Reasonable Accommodation Specialist assigned to Ford’s request, had received notification in early April 2008 that

1 Ford was not capable of returning to his permanent position as a PSA because it would
2 require contact with aggressive WSH residents. Dkt. 44 at 1; see Dkt. 34 at 2. The WSH
3 Human Resources office received a letter on January 15, 2008, stating that Ford could 4 return to work for a day shift position only. Dkt. 39-1 at 14. Ford contends that Stratton
5 must have known of this limitation and that Ford could not return to his evening PSA
6 position when Stratton filled out the ESD separation statement. Dkt. 36 at 9. Stratton
7 maintains that, at the time he filled out the ESD separation statement, he was unaware of 8 the information provided by Barron regarding Ford's ability to return to his position as a 9 PSA. Id. In a letter dated June 5, 2008, ESD informed WSH and Ford that his 10 application for benefits was granted. Dkt. 24 at 24-25.

11 D. Reasonable Accommodation

12 In January 2008 the Investigations and Reasonable Accommodation Unit within 13 the Human Resources Division of DSHS received a reasonable accommodation request 14 regarding Ford. Dkt. 34 at 1-2. Barron was assigned to handle Ford's request. Id. On 15 January 29, 2008, a letter was delivered to Ford along with a questionnaire to be filled out
16 by Ford's medical provider, Dr. Lisa Corthell ("Dr. Corthell"), and returned to DSHS so 17 Barron could further review his request for an accommodation. Id. On February 20, 18 2008, Barron received a response from Dr. Corthell stating that Ford suffered from major
19 depression and that Dr. Corthell believed he could return to work immediately if a day 20 shift position was available. Id. at 6-8. Following an April 2, 2008, meeting between 21 Barron, Ford, and others, it was determined that Ford could not return to work in his 22 position as a PSA and DSHS agreed to make a good faith effort to reasonably 23 accommodate Ford in a new position. Id. at 2.

24 On April 4, 2008, Barron received an email stating that a day shift PSA position
25 with Wednesdays and Thursdays off was available at WSH. Id. On April 18, 2008,
26 Barron received a letter from Dr. Corthell stating that she had advised Ford not to accept 27
28

1 the PSA position after he told her that the position would require contact with clients with 2 a high potential for dangerous behavior. Id. at 2-3. After receiving this letter, Barron
3 narrowed her reasonable accommodation search for Ford to positions that did not involve 4 contact with clients with a high potential for dangerous behavior, as well as narrowed the 5 search geographically following a request from Ford to do so. Id. at 3.

6 On September 25, 2008, Barron informed Ford that a Customer Service Specialist
7 2 position was available at the Auburn Community Services office and on November 4, 8 2008, Barron notified Ford by mail that he had been reassigned to this position. Id. at 4.
9 On December 23, 2008, Barron closed Ford's reasonable accommodation file because his 10 reassignment had been accomplished. Id.

11 E. Ford's Complaints

12 In April 2007 Ford made several complaints to different WSH personnel including 13 Dr. Gregory, Dr. Phillips and Rebecca Quinn ("Dr. Quinn"), Director of the Center for 14 Adult Services, regarding his temporary position not being converted to a permanent one
15 and his belief that certain Caucasian employees' positions were being converted. Dkt. 36
16 at 3-5. On June 1, 2007, Ford filed a union grievance regarding WSH's failure to convert 17 his IC3 job to a permanent position. Dkt. 39 at 3. On June 20, 2007, Ford filed a union
18 grievance regarding WSH personnel's failure to keep an email containing confidential
19 information that may have been damaging to his reputation. Id. at 5. On June 28, 2007, 20 Ford filed a union grievance regarding WSH's termination of his temporary IC2 position.
21 Id. at 2. On November 27, 2007, Ford filed a complaint with the Washington Human 22 Resources Division Investigations and Reasonable Accommodations Unit alleging racial 23 discrimination on the part of WSH. Id. at 6-8. In December 2007, Ford filed a complaint 24 with the Office of the Governor of the State of Washington alleging discrimination on the 25 part of WSH. Id. at 9-11. In March 2008 Ford filed complaints with the Mayor's office 26 for the City of Lakewood and the Lakewood City Council alleging discrimination on the 27
28

1 part of WSH. Id. at 8; see Dkt. 39-1 at 2. Finally, on April 10, 2008, Ford filed a 2 complaint with the United States Department of Health and Human Services Office for 3 Civil Rights alleging discrimination on the part of WSH. Id. at 1.

4 III. DISCUSSION

5 In his second amended complaint, Ford brings the following causes of action
 6 against Defendants: (1) racial discrimination in violation of Title VII of the Civil Rights
 7 Act of 1964, 42 U.S.C. § 2000e, et seq. (“Title VII”); (2) retaliation in violation of Title
 8 VII; (3) discrimination in violation of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, 42
 9 U.S.C. § 12101 et seq. (“ADA”); (4) racial discrimination in violation of the Washington
 10 Law Against Discrimination, RCW § 49.60.010, et seq. (“WLAD”); (5) retaliation in 11 violation of the WLAD; (6) disability discrimination in violation of the WLAD; (6)
 12 negligent infliction of emotional distress; (7) outrage; and (8) negligence and negligent
 13 hiring, retention and supervision. Dkt. 12.

14 A. Summary Judgment Standard

15 Summary judgment is proper only if the pleadings, the discovery and disclosure 16 materials on file, and any affidavits show that there is no genuine issue as to any material
 17 fact and that the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(c).
 18 The moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law when the nonmoving party 19 fails to make a sufficient showing on an essential element of a claim in the case on which 20 the nonmoving party has the burden of proof. Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323
 21 (1986). There is no genuine issue of fact for trial where the record, taken as a whole, 22 could not lead a rational trier of fact to find for the nonmoving party. Matsushita Elec.
 23 Indus. Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 586 (1986) (nonmoving party must 24 present specific, significant probative evidence, not simply “some metaphysical doubt”).
 25 See also Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(e). Conversely, a genuine dispute over a material fact exists if 26 there is sufficient evidence supporting the claimed factual dispute, requiring a judge or 27
 28

1 jury to resolve the differing versions of the truth. Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477
2 U.S. 242, 253 (1986); T.W. Elec. Serv., Inc. v. Pac. Elec. Contractors Ass'n, 809 F.2d
3 626, 630 (9th Cir. 1987).

4       The determination of the existence of a material fact is often a close question. The 5 Court must consider the substantive evidentiary burden that the nonmoving party must 6 meet at trial – e.g., a preponderance of the evidence in most civil cases. Anderson, 477
7 U.S. at 254; T.W. Elec. Serv., Inc., 809 F.2d at 630. The Court must resolve any factual
8 issues of controversy in favor of the nonmoving party only when the facts specifically 9 attested by that party contradict facts specifically attested by the moving party. The 10 nonmoving party may not merely state that it will discredit the moving party's evidence at 11 trial, in the hopes that evidence can be developed at trial to support the claim. T.W. Elec.
12 Serv., Inc., 809 F.2d at 630 (relying on Anderson, 477 U.S. at 255). Conclusory, 13 nonspecific statements in affidavits are not sufficient, and missing facts will not be 14 presumed. Lujan v. Nat'l Wildlife Fed'n, 497 U.S. 871, 888-89 (1990).

16 B. Dismissal of Claims

17       Defendants' motion for summary judgment seeks dismissal of all claims alleged 18 against them in Ford's second amended complaint. Dkt. 23. In his response to the 19 motion for summary judgment, Ford only asserts that he can establish genuine issues of 20 material fact with respect to the following claims: (1) retaliation under Title VII, 21 (2) retaliation under the WLAD, and (3) negligent infliction of emotional distress. Dkt.
22 35 at 8. Accordingly, the Court concludes that the following claims should be dismissed
23 with prejudice: (1) racial discrimination under Title VII and the WLAD; (2)
24 discrimination under the ADA; (3) disability discrimination under the WLAD; and (4)
25 negligence and negligent hiring, retention and supervision.
26
27
28

1 C. Remaining State Law Claims

2 Ford alleges claims against Defendants for retaliation in violation of the WLAD, 3 negligent infliction of emotional distress and outrage. The Eleventh Amendment to the 4 United States Constitution bars citizens from bringing suit against a state, or its agencies,
5 in federal court. Pennhurst State School & Hosp. v. Halderman, 465 U.S. 89, 100 (1984).

6 There are two exceptions to a state's Eleventh Amendment immunity: (1) a state may 7 consent to suit against it in federal court (see Hans v. Louisiana, 134 U.S. 1 (1890)); or 8 (2) Congress, in certain situations, may abrogate a state's Eleventh Amendment immunity 9 (see Pennhurst, 465 U.S. at 99).

10 Here, Defendants maintain that Ford's claims for retaliation in violation of the 11 WLAD and negligent infliction of emotional distress must be dismissed because Congress 12 has not abrogated the state's Eleventh Amendment immunity in this area and because 13 Washington has not consented to being sued in federal court. Dkt. 23 at 10. Ford argues 14 that Washington has waived sovereign immunity through its Tort Claims Act and the 15 WLAD and that under those statutes, Washington has also consented to being sued in 16 federal court. Dkt. 35 at 9-12. However, a state's waiver of sovereign immunity, that is,
17 its consent to be sued in its state courts, is not considered consent to be sued in federal 18 court. Lee v. Murphy, 844 F.2d 628 (9th Cir. 1988). Rather, a state's consent to be sued
19 in federal court must "be unequivocally expressed." Pennhurst, 465 U.S. 89, 99 (1984).

20 First, the Court concludes that Ford's negligent infliction of emotional distress and 21 outrage claims, brought under the Tort Claims Act, must be dismissed with prejudice as 22 the Washington Supreme Court has specifically held that the state does not consent to 23 being sued in federal court under that statute. Rains v. State, 100 Wn.2d 660, 666-68
24 (1983). In addition, the Court concludes that Ford's claim for retaliation under the 25 WLAD must be dismissed with prejudic as he has failed to show where in the statute 26
27
28

1 Washington has “unequivocally expressed” its consent to be sued in federal court under 2 that statute. Pennhurst, 465 U.S. at 99.

3 D. Retaliation Under Title VII

4 As an initial matter, Defendants argue, and Ford concedes, that Ford’s Title VII
5 retaliation claims involving Defendants’ actions prior to July 27, 2007 are barred by the 6 statute of limitations as such actions occurred more than 300 days prior to his filing of his 7 Washington State Human Rights Commission complaint on May 22, 2008. See 42 U.S.C.
8 § 2000e-5(e)(1) (stating that a Title VII charge filed with a state agency, in lieu of filing a
9 charge with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, must be filed within 300
10 days after the alleged unlawful employment practice occurred). Accordingly, the Court 11 will only consider Defendants’ actions that occurred on or after July 27, 2007, in 12 analyzing Ford’s Title VII retaliation claim.

14 Under Title VII, it is unlawful “for an employer to discriminate against any of his 15 employees . . . because [the employee] has opposed any practice made an unlawful 16 employment practice by [Title VII], or because [the employee] has made a charge, 17 testified, assisted, or participated in any manner in an investigation, proceeding, or 18 hearing under [Title VII].” 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-3. To make out a prima facie case of 19 retaliation under Title VII, a plaintiff must demonstrate that “(1) [he] engaged in a 20 protected activity, (2) [he] suffered an adverse employment action, and (3) there was a 21 causal link between [his] activity and the employment decision.” Raad v. Fairbanks
22 North Star Borough Sch. Dist., 323 F.3d 1185, 1196-97 (9th Cir. 2003). If a plaintiff is 23 able to assert a prima facie retaliation claim, the “burden shifting” framework articulated 24 in McDonnell Douglas Corp. v. Green, 411 U.S. 792 (1973), applies. See Villiarimo v.
25 Aloha Island Air, Inc., 281 F.3d 1054, 1064 (9th Cir. 2002).

26 Under McDonnell Douglas, once a plaintiff makes out a prima facie case of 27 retaliation, “the burden shifts to [the defendant] to articulate a legitimate, 28

1 non-discriminatory reason for the adverse employment action.” Manatt v. Bank of Am.,
2 N.A., 339 F.3d 792, 800 (9th Cir. 2003). If the defendant articulates such a reason, the 3 plaintiff “bears the ultimate burden of demonstrating that the reason was merely a pretext
4 for a discriminatory motive.” Id. (internal quotation marks and citation omitted).

5 Here, assuming Ford meets the first element in establishing a prima facie case of 6 retaliation by showing that he engaged in protected activity in filing discrimination
7 complaints, the Court concludes that he has failed to demonstrate that he suffered an 8 adverse employment action or that there was a causal link between his filing of the 9 complaints and any employment action by Defendants. As conceded by Ford, discussed
10 above, the only actions taken by Defendants that are not barred by statute of limitations,
11 for purposes of his Title VII retaliation claim, are those occurring on or after July 27,
12 2007. Therefore, the only actions referred to by Ford in support of his Title VII
13 retaliation claim are those of WSH in responding to Standard’s request for Ford’s 14 employment information and Stratton in filling out the ESD separation statement with 15 incorrect information regarding Ford’s ability to return to his previous position as a PSA.
16 See Dkt. 35 at 16-17. Ford presents no evidence, or legal authority, either in his response 17 to Defendants’ motion or in the record, to show that WSH’s alleged slow response in 18 providing documents to Standard amounted to an adverse employment action. Similarly,
19 Ford has failed to show that Stratton’s incorrect response contained in the ESD separation
20 statement constituted an adverse employment action as ESD was able to get the correct
21 information regarding Ford’s ability to return to his previous position and his 22 unemployment benefits were approved. Dkt. 24 at 24-25. Even if the Court were to 23 assume that WSH and Stratton’s conduct did constitute adverse employment actions, Ford
24 has shown no evidence of any causal connection between such conduct and Ford’s
25 discrimination complaints. Finally, even assuming Ford was able to establish a prima
26 facie case of retaliation, Defendants have offered legitimate, non-discriminatory reasons
27
28

1 for their actions and Ford failed to present any evidence that these reasons for the actions
2 taken were pretextual. That is, WSH has stated that it is a large bureaucracy and that 3 responding to requests such as that made by Standard can take a significant amount of 4 time. See Dkt. 26. In addition, Stratton maintains that he filled out the ESD separation
5 statement with the information that he had at the time. See id. Ford has presented no
6 evidence to show that either of these reasons were actually a pretext for retaliation.
7 Therefore, the Court concludes that Defendants' motion for summary judgment on Ford's 8 Title VII retaliation claim should be granted.

9 IV. ORDER

10 Therefore, it is hereby ORDERED that Defendant's motion for summary
11 judgment (Dkt. 23) is GRANTED, and Ford's claims are dismissed with prejudice.
